What Does NHACC Do?

We're the only organization providing specific programs and support to our state's municipal conservation commissions.

NHACC Answers Your Questions

Commissioners contact the NHACC office with numerous questions ranging from how to take meeting minutes, to best practices for trail building, to wetland permits and sample warrant article language.

We also publish educational materials and provide programs: We publish the Handbook for New Hampshire's Municipal Conservation Commissions, and the NH Municipal Conservation Fund Guidebook, and we hold a very popular annual conference on the first Saturday in November. The conference offers dozens of educational workshops and field trips.

NHACC Works With NH Commissions

The NH Association of Conservation Commissions is a nonprofit conservation organization that provides education and assistance to New Hampshire's local conservation commissions. NH has 217 Conservation Commissions with over 1,500 individual volunteers.

Conservation commissioners are charged with the protection of the natural resources in their community. The NHACC Board of Directors is made up of folks who are dedicated to conservation work in their local community. NHACC provides important support to these volunteers.

NHACC Tracks the Legislature

We work in the legislature and on state committees to ensure that the voice of your conservation commission is represented. NHACC monitors the legislative process and updates conservation commission regarding environmentally responsible legislation and rulemaking.
